Inventor Viewing Talking Film Sees and Hears Self as Others See and Hear Him

WEST ORANGE (N. J.) Nov. 28. (P)—The Wizard of West Orange tonight saw and heard himself as others see and hear him. Thomas A Edison, attending the first showing of a talking picture of his recent radio interview, sat back in his chair, watching and listening, as the film flashed his likeness on the acreen and as a radio loud speaker changed into words and sentences the tiny lines impressed on the celluloid by his voice.

The picture is the work of the So delicate are the adjustments showed it to the inventor in his laboratory. Only members of the Edison household and a few friends were present.

A dexterous synchronization of two electric motors made possible this realistic appearance of kir. Edison on the acreen. Picture and voice were recorded nearly 200 miles apart, the former in the Edison library where the interview took place, and the latter in the Ceneral Electric research laboratory at Schenectady.

NOVEL RECORDING

The inventor's replies to the questions of his interrogator were carried as electric impulses over a telephone wire to the up-State city where they were recorded on a film moving at exactly the same rate of speed of the camera that was taking the pictures here. Two negative films, after development, were transposed on a single positive, which was used this evening.

Tears of women, who, until that moment, did not know if they ever were to see those men alive again, fell on the lawn around the warden's home, mingling with the cold dew of the morning.

Tears of men, too, who had tramped all night outside those walls waiting for the zero hour of attack that never came, dropped on the roadway.

And inside, it was said there were other tears, tears of shame, regret and the opwardice that marks the criminal.

Never before had anything so serious happened at Folsom and those who saw it hope it never will happen again.

ENFORECE DISCIPLINE The Archbishop of Canterbury has stressed the determination of the bishops to enforce discipline in the matter of the new prayer book if the bill passes Parliament. With regard to the permissive character of the book the archbishop indicated that when a difference arises between a rector and the church council as to whether the new prayer book or the old prayer book shall be used it will be the general policy of the bishop to order that the church council's views shall prevail. Various utterances of prominent ministers of the free churches recently indicate that the principal desire of the free churches is to assist the established church to arrive at a decision to insure peace and nity.

Rev. Patrie Simpson, professor of church history at Westminster theological college, Cambridge University when re-elected moderator of the Frangelical Free Church recently, though disapproving of the changes in the Anglican prayer book, especially on the subject of the reservation of the successment, says the great quantities to would have been well on the way toward cure.

The test on the cattle was made by the Health Bureau and other agencies following a statement made public last January by Dr. E. F. Pernot to the effect that after ten years' investigation he was convinced that Dr. Etrapatrick had discovered a cure for tuberculosis and kindred bacterial diseases. On account of Dr. Pernot's stauding in the scientific world the City Council ordered the Bureau of Health to grant Dr. Pernot's request for an official test. Soon after this was granted Dr. Pernote who has devoted his life to efforts'along tuberculosis lines, died. But the work he had started was continued.

SCIENCE INTERESTED

From this herd medical men selected the worst-appearing cattle for the test. For 180 days the cattle were treated by Dr. Kirkpatric, after which he reported them ready for slaughter. Scientists from many parts of the country came to Portland to watch the post-mortem and these scientists elected Drs. Beckwith and Traum to make the final examinations, inasmuch as they are considered among the greatest authorities on the subject in the country.

Since the California scientists left with the glands of the animals, increst in the tests has become wide-preed with the result that other ests are now being made. A clinic has been established in California at which a long list of human cases is being treated. A test on cattle has been started by the provincial government in Alberta, Canada, and the emedy is under trial in the tuber-ulosis hospital of the municipality in Seattle.

Theater Boat Foundered in Chesapeake Bay

NORFOLK (Va.) Nov. 28. (P)—With only a few inches of her deck visible above water, the James Adams floating theater tonight was sunk in aixteen feet of water near Thimble Shoals. Chesspeake Bay. The craft probably will prove a total loss, Coast Guard officials said.

The abow boat was in tow of the tug W. H. Soodless, which had brought her as far as Thimble Shoals from Philadelphia, when she aprang a leak today. The theater is owned by S. C. Loveland of Philadelphia. There were only two men on the craft and they were taken aboard the tug. Members of the theatrical troups were on the way to North Carolina to join the craft.

Strong Santa Maria and Burbank Elevens Tangle Today in Prep Play-off Strug

TOUGH BATTLE

Powerful Aggregation Game Will be Staged Today

Saints Come South Boasting

Capt. Tony Frank Big Threat of Battling Wizards

Burbank's Wizards, who are making their second bid for a Southern California championahip, swing into the play-off action today whan they entertain the strong Santa Maria eleven out in the San Fernando Valley. Aitheugh there is no way of comparing the respective strength of the two elevens, both teams have piled up good records and are doped to be evenly matched. Last year Burbank won a 1-to-6 play-off game from Santa Maria, but it is said that Coach Walter Herreid's Saints are three touchdowns stronger than they were then, which would seem to indicate that the Wizards are in for a plenty tough afternoon.

This Blakeman, by the way, who answers to the handle of Jerry, is juite a versatile young man. Jerry renerally starts a game at center and then later on is shifted to a backfield position, where his speed and diffiness make him a tough bomore to stop when he gets in the open. Today's game starts at 2:30 o'clock and Burbank High officials are hoping that it draws as many fans as a seems capable of attracting, for it cost the Winards quite a bit to bring he daints south so they could play in their own gridition.

TROJAN GRIDDERS

Ten dozen of the finest roses that money can buy will serve to keep the Trojan footbell team under the influence of California's sunshine and flowers today. The wire authorizing the purchase of the roses was sent by Joseph Sanalies, well-known local capitalist, to Harry Lee Martin, also well known in the financial world of Los Angeles, who is in Chicago for the big game.

Smalles's wire follows: "Buy ten dozen of the finest roses you can get for the Trojans' headquarters. Make their hotel look like a Los Angeles garden in winter. Bet the family bank roll and the Ford on the Trojans and send me the bill. I merer saw a football game in my life but I am sure boesting for the Trojans rot his football fever has sure got me."

Filming the Notre Dame-U.S.C. game in toto is a great proposition, and when the pictures are shown here, starting next Monday at the Shrine Auditorium, there should be a whale of a turnout. I understand they will be exhibited all week at the same place, and they should have a run that will knock the Tunney-Dempsey run into a cocked hat.

However, I register this hope, that there will be no "fourteencount" aftermath to the football game as there was to Chicago's championship fight last September. Anyway, I have more confidence in the Messrs. Varnell, Schommer, Eckersall and Griffifth, who will officiate the battle between the Trojans and the Irish, than "I have in fight referees as a whole.

E HAVE no predictions to make about today's fracas in Chicago between the Trojams and the Notre Dame Irish. Neither have we had ahy hunehes, either good or had. We do know this, however, that if the Trajans don't win that game ne'll be very much disappointed. The 1927 Trojans started sut looking to the proprieter of this column like one of those teams of destiny" that you hear about every once in so often. The only time they've faltered was against Stanford. They've looked better and better every game they've played this year and if Notre Dame can beat them, then Knute Rockne has a better football team than we think he has. This looks like 'a Trojan year and we've had three big regrets (1) We didn't see them play Notre Dame, and (3) we won't see them play Notre Dame, and (3) we won't see them play Notre Dame, and (3) we won't see them play Georgia at Paradena New Year's Day. As far as the Trojan chances are concerned we're inclined to believe that they are just as good as Morley Drury. If Drury can stand up and go through today's game without getting hurt and with weather conditions as good as they are reported to be, we have lots of faith in the Trojans to win. However, with Don Williams at home, we have a feeling that Drury's absence would result in a total luck of panch on the part of the local boys, Drury has mark the prep events. Game time for Southern California and Notre Dame means 1:30 in the Windy City, which will bring reports of the fracas to our ears at 11:30 Los Angeles time. So tune in your radio at that hour if you want to get all the dope from the time of the opening kick-off. The national broadcast is coming in over KFI, and the boys at that studio are going to put it on right. Harold Roberts and his Trojan band will be on the roof garden at 11 eclock to play Southern California hymns and songs, which will give the listeners-in all the atmosphere that the Chicago audience won't be able to enjoy. The band will, perform again between halves, so all you have to do is sit back in an easy chair, imagine yourself at the Coliseum with the brilliantly, garbed Trojan music makers parading over the green grass, and wait for the Trojan and Notre Dame gridiron warriors to start the thrills in the second half. and he is a real loss to Notre Dame. On the dry-field proposition I find a smart coach like Albert Exendine favoring the Trojans, whereas, if the gridfron is wet and slippery, he pins his faith on the Irish. He explains that the Notre Dame plays drive straight ahead, and the backs can hold their feet better on a slippery field than under the Trojan system, which calls for the backs on the offtackle slants to rum diagonally and then cut in.

The turnout tomorrow will be a great tribute to Southern California and Notre Dame. It certainly is unusual that two teams, neither of which calls Chicago home, can completely sell out the largest stadium in the world so early that thousands are left yelping for tickets. The game sold out quicker than the Army-Navy classic of last year. And that battle is one hoary with tradition. There are as many different reports about Niemic playing or not playing as there are newspapers in Chicago. One says he's out for good. Another anys he'll start. Still another declares he won't start, but that he's sure to get into the game. Bockne says "Dutch" won't play. This is mentioned because Niemic

There are five sophomores in the starting line-up and they may be puzzled and befuddled by Notre Dame's deceptive attack. The first-year men are Francis Tappaan, Nathan Barrager and Frank Anthony on the line and Russ Saunders and Harry Edelson in the backfield. So far they have done everything asked of them. They have gained much experience during the season but they are still unacquainted with the Irish system as employed by Bockne.

Drury seems to be the only Trojan player whose fame has reached these parts. At every gathering they all want Morley pointed out Hibbs has been asked for once or twice but Drury is the head man as far as midwestern 'fans are concerned. They have heard that he can do everything with the football but swallow it and he'll be more closely watched than a shimmy dancer performing a la Lady Godiva.

Players on the side of the offensive from which the play is sent will be instructed to get down the field and cut down the secondary. Expects Volume of Business to Exceed Last Year

Christmas shopring is swinging into action earlier this year than usual and indications are that the holiday trade in Los Angeles territory will exceed that of last year, according to a statement made yesterday by Arthur Strasburger, vice-president in charge of merchandising of the Broadway Department Store, Inc.
Shoppers are finding it more convenient to shop early to avoid the crowds which always jam the stores just prior to Caristmas, Mr. Strasburger said. A better selection is also offered now and gift seekers appear to appreciate this fact.

The shopping season in Los Angeles opened early this month, although, as is always the case, the bulk of the holiday trade will be experienced from December 10 to December 24. The December trade a year ago was substantial, but with conditions improved generally, the volume of business next month is expected to be larger.

The feature of today's cotton market was the extensive settlement of the outstanding speculative long interest in the way of open trades here in the December option. It was the first-day "notices" could be issued for the tender of actual cotton in making deliveries on December contracts due December 1.
The total contract stock of cotton here is about 200,000 bales. There had been a large amount of scattered liquidation by speculative holders in December for over a week in anticipation that an unusually heavy amount of the cotton would be so tendered. This idea turned out to be correct today as "notices" for nearly the whole amount of the stock were sent out shortly after the open-

Coming from one of the country's the selective character shown in 1927 most conservative economic services and reflecting the views expressed at the recent annual meeting at Harvard, this optimistic expression will inspire fresh confidence as the new year approaches. The Harvard authorities base their expectation that business will hold to its present big volume for another six months on the exceptional case of money and the increasing complication in the problem of transferring reparation exceptional case of money and the increasing complication in the problem of transferring reparation for overproduction of goods. On the other hand they do eral reserve policy. Inauguration of They see no obstacues to fund the property of unwishly inventories, inefficient transportation or overproduction of goods. On the other hand they do note with astisfaction that basic manufacturers are operating at a substantial lower rate than last year, that weak spots in the situation, such as the oil industry, are being strengthened and that the agricultural position is so improved as to assure an abundant purchasing power for 1928.

Not even a major change in speculation is in prospect if the market horoscope presented by the Harvard people is accurate. The indication is, in their opinion, fairly convincing that the stock market will maintain the stock of the stock market will maintain the stock of t

WALL STREET PARAGRAPHS

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Despite the many sound thrashings which have been its lot the bear element among the speculative fraternity still appears to be endowed with a good deal of aggressiveness. This was illustrated in the noon hour today, when a spirited attack was launched against the motors. The group as a whole had been feeling the effects of realisting, influenced by the steady selling of General Motors from the opening, but the loosing of the bear guns was successful in forciag some fair-sized recessions in Hupp, Hudson, Nash, and Willys-Overland. Strong support checked the drive, however, and partial recovery was the rule later.

Wires Heavy Buyers

That country-wide interest has been aroused in stock speculation was indicated by the large accumulation of orders coming into the bigger wire houses over the holiday. Undoubtedly the remarkable activity and brisk advances which have characterized trading of late have served to stimulate the outlying public's appetite for stocks. At any rate close observers today contended that no small portion of demand originated with houses doing large out-of-town business.

Coast Guard cutter Algonquin, under command of Commander C. F.
Howell, put in from her San Francisco base yesterday for stores and supplies. She is one of the largest on this coast, and is one of several diverted to southern waters when the rum fleet was reported offshore. The Cahokia came down from San Francisco early this week, and the subchaser Smith is cruising outside on leturally strip back in the northern

Sales Growing

While making a recent survey of foreign trade handled through Los Angeles Harbor George L. Browning, president of the Seaboard National Bank, gathered some interesting new data from C. C. Teague, president of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, on the unprecedented increase ir citrus fruit exports.

"I learned from Mr. Teague that foreign shipments of citrus fruits for the year ending October 31, 1927, through hit local harbor, equalled total exports of the previous sixteen years," said Mr. Browning.

"It has been revealed that 500,000 boxes were shipped to Europe as compared with 218,000 during the previous year and 32,000 in the preceding twelve months. Southern California will realise this year $120,000,000 from its oranges, lemons and grapefruit, approximately 25 per cent more than in any other year."

Move from Old Location to Just-Finished Modern Building Made Without Confusion

Moving from the old St. Vincent's Hospital at Sunset Boulevard and Beaudry avenue to the new building at Alvarado street and Ocean View avenue, was accomplished yesterday with as much smoothness and dispatch as if moving were an everyday affair. Starting at 12.30 a facet of ambulances began rolling up to the old hospital and kept up the process until about 5 o'clock, when the last of the thirty-five patients and fifteen babies were began rolling up to the old hospital and kept up the process until about 5 o'clock, when the last of the thirty-five patients and fifteen babies were safely ensonced in their new quarters.

Sister Alberta and Sister Helen. Sing Sister Helen locked the doors at the superintendent of the school of nurses, directed operations at the old Bulding and between seeing the patients off, each properly accompanied by a nurse, they supervised the loading of moving vans with hospital equipment, furniture, baby cribs and what not.

At the other end of the line Sister Mary Ann, superintendent of the hospital, received the patients as they motored up and directed them to their rooms. She said that they all arrived in good order and experienced thrills over the unusual outing. The first to be established in the new hospital was a charity patient.

After the last ambulance had driven away, the last load of supplies had been packed up and the last nurse had passed out of the build-

Turning to more pleasant topica Mr. Copiey discussed the marvelous development of Southern California. "It is controlled by just one thing—water," he declared. "You appear to have an abundance now, but you are going to need a great deal more. The longer you delay getting, it the more you will pay. Water has been the foundation of your schievements. Your harbor and industry are the superstructure, but the future depends on your back country and water. With these your future is unlimited."

Attempting to present in open court a petition purporting to set forth facts of the case and de-manding leniency for Michael manding leniency for Michael Sedas, charged with possessing three pints of moonshine whisky in his cafe at $24 West Third street, yesterday so areused the ire of Municipal Judge Turney that he sentenced J. G. Brown, $300 Eleventh avenue, and Frank J. Carlton, 254 South Figueroa street, the petitioners, to one day in jail for contempt of court. The new method of seeking leniency for a prisoner was revealed immediately after Sedas's case was called for trial. Brown stepped forward and addressed the court.

"Your Honor," Brown said, "I have a petition here for leniency for this defendant. His release is requested by many property own-

When Judge Turney read the petition he found that it set forth the asserted facts of arrest and demanded that the defendant be acquitted.

"You are in contempt of court for such an outrageous procedure as this." Judge Turney announced. Brown and Carleton were taken into custody immediately to serve their one-day sentences.

Afterward Judge Turney pointed out that it is a flagrant breach of legal ethics to present statements regarding an arrest in court before the trial has started.

Further investigation of the case was promised by Deputy City Prosecutor Higgins, who said that contempt citations may be issued against the signers of the petition if the charges are borne out.

Judge Turney transferred Sedan's case to Judge Sheldon's court for jury trial at a later date.

Most of the cas-ualties, fortunately, were among the con-victs, but the situation might easily have been reversed, and had the revolt succeed-ed a regiment of the most hardened crimi-nals would have been loosed upon Califor-nia for murder, rapine and pillage. ered, at liberty in a darkened room. If there had been any sort of effective search it seems incredible that the weapons, at least, would not have been discovered.

Under the State Prison Board appointed by Gov. Young with the advice and consent of Hiram Johnson, and consenant with the prison policies inaugurated by Johnson when Governor, there has been a deal of experimenting in the California prisons. The "hard labor" of which the courts speak in imposing sentences has been interpreted at Folsom to mean four to six hours a day of by no means back-breaking effort, and has left the convicts—all of them considered too left the convicts—all of them considered too vicious to associate with the inmates of San Quentin—with many idle hours, which can conveniently be employed in the consection of deviltry. The men are supposed to improve these hours with study, but it is evident from the results that the study is of matters as antisocial as those which caused them to be confined in the first place.

The whole idea of punishment has disap-peared from prison theory under this so-called modern administration. The work required is so light, the recreations furnished so many and so various and the general treatment of the incarcerated so good that many of the convicts are actually better off than many honest men trying to make a living. The place of punishment has be-come a lary man's paradise, with far better food, lodging and entertainment than can be obtained outside for the expenditure of more effort.

A MERICA AS A TEACHER
One of the most significant signs of the times, indicative of America's hard-won position in the world, is the actions of the reigning regent of Abyssinia. That country desires the assistance of America in carrying out an enormous reclamation project of great potential worth to the nation. But the importan; point is the reason why he wishes American belp. He hopes from the profits to be gained by so doing to be able soon to "embark on a plan for employing American teachers, physicians, technical men, and skilled artisans with a view of throwing off the inertia which has held back the country for so many centuries." This is only one example. A recent traveler in Africa tells us that wherever he went he found the fame of America as a land of advancement and success had preceded him. It will be noticed that Abyssinia desires educational uplift. It is a matter of pride to note the success that has attended American workers in that field also. Our advisers are straightening our tangled affairs in number of countries by teaching better budgetary methods. The Rockefeller Foundation is doing sanitary educational work of incalculable value in southeastern Europe. One kind of work, but little known, but of extreme worth, is being developed in Tur-key. A CORRECTION By James J. Montague The ostrich is not such a fool As you and I were taught in school, And oft repeated, word for word Traducing a heroic bird.

His naked head he does not thrust Beneath the desert sand or dust To shut the sight out of a foe Which possibly might lay him low. He does not think that he is free He never would, by any chance Delude himself by ignorance—

Because he looks on it as bliss; The truth about the bird is this: Whenever he requires a drink His head beneath the sand he'll sink, And burrows somewhat like a mole Until he finds a water hole.

And men who see him thus engaged The while his craving is assuaged— Mistake his motives, as a rule And murmur, smiling, "What a fool!"

This seems to make it rather clear We should not credit all we hear, Nor jeer at men or birds, forsooth Until conversant with the truth. (Copyright, 1927, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

the city boasted of deeper sloughs than the country. But then home was home, and families were content to stay there.

The city streets may have been straight like dogs hind legs, and broad like alleys loafing their lazy way into the future. But men had time to stop and laugh, maybe to help and be brothers. They never snaried over the right of way, nor did an accusing finger ever point a did an accusing finger ever point a button-cutter to his destiny and the curb. There were no buttons save on clothes. During the mational depression of 1981 the President's conference on unemployment met in Washington and appointed a committee to study the causes of the business cycle and its effect upon the situation at that time. The committee consulted the foremost business men, economists and statisticians in the country in its deliberations and issued a report. In this voluminous study of the business cycle Mr. Hoover, who wrote the foreword, stated as follows:

"Broadly, the business cycle is a constant recurrence of irregularly separated booms and slumps. The general conclusion of the committee is that as the alumps are in the main due to the wastes, extravagance, speculation, inflation, overexpansion, and inefficiency in production developed during the booms, the strategic point of abtack, therefore, is the refluction of these evils, mainly through the provision for such current economic information as will show the signs of danger and its more general understanding and use by producers, distributors, and banks, inducing more constructive and safer policies."

caught a couple of ten-pound cod
that seem to have swum 3000 miles from Norway. They bear the stamp of the Norwegian Fisheries Department. The Norwegian Fisheries

In this way they have found out

HANSON GOES HOME
After two years in America, Lars Hanson, the Swedish actor, will have Christmas dinner with his "home tolks" in Sweden. Hanson, with his wife, known on the Swedish stage as
New York, and will sail December 7 for Sweden. After a three months' vasation he will return to the MetroBoldwyn-Mayer studios, where he is under contract.

From the modest at empts fif-teen years ago to introduce poly-giot policemen to derlin, an estima-ble traffe squad of 130 conversant with foreign languages has grown. These linguistic officers are recog-nizable by sed bands around their arms, on which are printed the lan-guages they speak. Many of these, leasted their foreign languages abroad. French and English are the Loguages must often called on, but many also speak Russias and Fo-lish.

Hypnotism and Horror Go Hand in Hand in Haunting Chaney Picture

Perhaps you've never been informed of the fact but there are two kinds of vampires—supposedly. The better known variety live in ninecoom apartments with twelve baths.

They wear slinky satin gowns use the standard of the theaters
in the general locality.

A very funny "Our Gang" comedy
is also on the program.

Lon Chaney, the criminologist, has a chance to wear the most appalling director of the Metropolitan.

Newman says 13.500 people saw the opening performance on Thankagiverthout the disguise, however, is a bit proper to overplay his part.

Henry B without the disguise, however, is a bit proper to overplay his part.

Henry B whithall plays with consummate skill the disguist rike of the guardian. Marceline Day is appealing as the girl, and Conrad Nazive stage act, "Thankagiving Follias."

The house record for one week had been held by Al Joison. bodies of living people.

B is the latter kind of vampire that figures prominently in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature, 'ton-don After Midnight,' which is thrilling and chilling audiences at Loew's state this week.

Whether or not you agree with the idea that mysterious crimes can be solved by hypnotic suggestion—the major premise of 'London After Midnight'—the picture qualifies as excellent entertainment. For one thing the piot is startlingly unique—and it is one of the best mystery stories to reach the screen.

Not giving away too much of the story, a man has been found a suicide on his remote London estate. Strange circumstances point to the fact that the suicide might have been instead a carefully planned murder. A famous criminologist is called on the case. Then, apparently, the matter is dropped.

Five years later the long untenanted house is occupied. Lights more across colvebbed windows. Strange figures are seen on the tcarcaces and in the garden. The people in the house next door, the daughter of the dead man, her quardian, and her lover, are drawn into the mase of weird happenings. The criminologist again appears.

From these incidents the picture builds toward its startling denouement—but I won't give away the screet. You'll have to unravel the erret. You'll have to unravel the surface of the Metropolitan Theater were smashed Thursday, according to a statement issued yesterday by Frank L.
